

Yvangeline Adjaa Mills

Yvangeline Mills is the daughter of Thomas Mills and Tina Mills and recently graduated from Bearden High School with a weighted GPA of 4.05. By the end of her freshman year, Yvangeline recognized her career interest and began taking medical assistance and cardiovascular classes. She completed four AP classes and Dual Enrollment courses. As a result of these efforts, Yvangeline passed the National Medical Exams to become either a Medical Assistant or an EKG Technician. In addition Yvangeline, was Vice President of the Black Student Union; a member of the Key Club; and participated in the Health Occupations Student Association and the Red Cross Club.

Yvangeline's community involvement included serving as Sunday School teacher at her church; captain of church dance team; a church choir member; church worship leader; and Youth social media page manager. And, while taking challenging courses at Bearden High School and serving at her church, Yvangeline worked part-time at Chick-fil-A and a business called Going, Going, Gone! Yvangeline plans to attend the University of Tennessee, Knoxville in the fall and focus on Biology as her major. After graduation she plan to attend medical school and become a Pediatrician.
